Items of Interest Locally

Already a number have moved into their cottages at Gull Lake for the summer. Many new cottages are going up, but all indications are that there will be none too many when the season is in full swing.

Invitations are out for a social dance to be held in the new U. F. A. hall, Spruceville, on Friday night, May 20, under auspices of the Spruceville members of the Lacombe District Women's Institute. All who attend are assured a good time.

On the 15th just an Automobile Club was organized at Lacombe. Automobiles from all parts of the district were present. Officers were elected as follows: P. E. McLeod president; B. E. Williams, Bonsley, first vice president; B. F. Allison, Clive, second vice president; W. J. Burns, secretary-treasurer. The Club has mapped out an ambitious program of activity and should accomplish much good.

On Wednesday night last we cured the opening of the City Pharmacy's ice cream parlor. One hundred and seventy people attended the opening, of which but two hours notice had been given. The Pharmacy is handling the famous Westmoren Dairy ice cream, Edmonton, the very best made in the province. The new soda fountain is a dandy, and a full line of ice cold drinks will be served during the warm weather. The latest sanitary plumbing has been installed in connection with the fountain.

Provincial Agricultural College

Official announcement was made by Hon. Duncan Marshall, Minister of Agriculture for Alberta, at a meeting of the board of agricultural education in the executive council chambers at the Parliament building in Edmonton on May 13, that the provincial government will organize an agricultural college in Alberta by September 1915. This will afford an opportunity for students in the three schools of agriculture to complete the course and obtain the degree.

Dr. Henry Marshall Tory, president of the University of Alberta, who presided as chairman of the board, in referring to the science equipment in the provincial schools of agriculture, said that it is the equal of any he had seen on his recent visit to the foremost schools in Europe.

Presenting the report of the work of the schools of agriculture for the year, Mr. Marshall said among other things:

"The success of our agricultural schools in the Province of Alberta exceeded the expectation of even their most enthusiastic supporters. The total of 268 students attending the three schools is by far the largest number of for 1915, and 16 years for 1916. The fall and winter course will begin on October 27, 1914, and ending any educational institution of any state or province close on March 27, 1915.

that we know of on this continent. Everybody connected with the schools feels quite sure that fully two-thirds of these students would not have been in a position to have attended a centrally located institution, and the fact that in the neighborhood of 90 per cent. of our students were drawn from a radius of 50 miles around each school, would go to prove the value of having these schools located in different sections of the province. The principals and instructors in the schools were in a measure handicapped in their work because it was the opening year, and some of the equipment of the schools was delayed for a week or two, but, notwithstanding that the result of the year's instruction has been in every way highly satisfactory.

"We have had, during the past few weeks, the most positive indications of the success of the institution for the term, as a number of farmers, whose sons attended these schools, have taken the trouble to write to the department of agriculture expressing not only their satisfaction, but their surprise at the progress their sons made during the five months' term at the school. We have also at this early date received a number of letters from farmers making application for their boys to enter one of the schools next year, because of the evidence they had of what their neighbor's boy learned at the school during the term just closed.

"I have been particularly impressed with the necessity and importance of teaching the girls this year. The girls had only a two months' course last year, and I want to say that I, personally, was astonished at the progress they made in their work. I feel that it is just as important that the farmer's daughter, whose educational advantages in connection with the public school have not been by any means all that either she or her parents would desire, should have the opportunity of getting the full term at these schools.

"We had in our dozen students this year about a dozen students who wish to continue their course after they complete the two years in the school and obtain a degree in agriculture, and I might say that the government will be prepared in September, 1915, to have organized in the province an agricultural college, to which these students can be admitted, and where they can complete their course and obtain a degree. We have also made arrangements whereby the students in household science, who desire to obtain certificates to teach, can graduate from our school into provincial university and obtain their standing there by a year's attendance."

J. C. Drury, a member of the board, suggested that during the summer continuation all the first year boys should endeavor to follow out the work on their farms at home or elsewhere to keep in touch with their studies. He urged the minister of agriculture to use his influence with the government in an effort to secure the establishment of additional demonstration farms and schools in rural districts of the province not now served by the existing farms and schools.

The board decided that 14 years be the minimum age for admission to the 1914 classes, 15 years for 1915, and 16 years for 1916. The fall and winter course will begin on October 27, 1914, and ending any educational institution of any state or province close on March 27, 1915.

Remarkable Progress in Sheep

Castor, May 11.—Since the last winter of 1909-10, when a great many of the stock growers of the province decreased their herds, swine have come to be the all and all of the farmers planning, so much so that all live stock since that time some show the greatest increase, but while our taste has run very strongly to pork, there have been a few who have turned their attention to that other branch of live stock production, sheep, and have done remarkably well. And as these successes become more generally known there will no doubt be an ever increasing interest manifested, so that the increase of the sheep of the country will show even greater percentage than does the swine today. Since 1910 the number of sheep on the farms and ranges has almost trebled, and yet there has been no concerted movement; nor has there been any special distribution of literature regarding sheep breeding, as there has been of hogs and cattle. The value has become recognized as indispensable to successful farming.

In the Castor district a few herds have been placed, and without exception these have proved satisfactory. The removal of the duty on wool going into the American market places Alberta on an equal basis (freight excepted) with the clip of Montana and Idaho, and instead of 9 to 11 cents, flock masters will now realize 16 to 19 cents a pound, for their clip.

Mutton, of which New Zealand and Australia furnish the great proportion used in Canada, can be as cheaply produced here as there, and those who know both affirm of better quality. It needs just now some Moses to preach the gospel of sheep farming to raise this industry to the place it should occupy of agricultural importance.

For a time we ran to stock, horned cattle, then to wheat, then to swine, and now the tendency is back to cattle; let us mix it a little and invite the lamb to the feast, it will make a welcome addition to the table as well as the bank account.

As one instance of the success this venture has been in our own district, we will cite that of Mr. Percy Jaques, successful breeder of Suffolk sheep, of the Northern Star Ranch.

Six years ago Mr. Jaques imported from England, at a cost of about $1,700, 25 head of this breed, the best that could be procured. Since that time the whole original investment has been repaid directly, besides a sum of more than seven hundred over and above that amount, and Mr. Jaques has today on his farm 260 of the finest ewes, lambs and rams to be found in Alberta.

He has not added to his original bunch by purchase, except in the case of sires, and the number today represents the natural increase, save for those marketed to repay the first investment and stated profit. We doubt if any branch of live stock production can produce a better record.

There has been no extensive outlay for shelter or special feed, the sheep having practically looked after themselves, and they have done it well. What has been done in this case is being repeated in all others, and it is high time some more considerable recognition was given the industry.

Calgary Industrial Exhibition

Each year that the prize list of the Calgary Industrial Exhibition is issued it grows better, increasing its scope as well as offering better prizes, which accounts in a large measure for the constantly increasing number of exhibitors. This year the fair will be held June 29 to July 4, which includes both the Canadian and American national days.

There are a large number of specially interesting classes added to the usual list, including prizes for boys and girls amounting to $350 given by the C.P.R. The total of $1,000 is given for six of the grain classes, and $125 is offered in one of the bread classes, which makes these two larger than any premiums ever offered to competitors in the west at any fair. There are also a number of special prizes for stock. Nearly everyone who possesses anything of superior merit or who can produce something of high quality, can find a class in which they can compete. Copies of the prize list can be seen at this office or obtained from E. L. Richardson, Manager, Victoria Park, Calgary.

Those who look for entertainment as well as instruction when they attend an exhibition, will find this year that the Calgary Industrial Exhibition has again provided for them. The thousands who will visit Victoria Park from June 29 to July 4 will find a most interesting program arranged for the afternoons and evenings. The large number from this town and district who attended last year are no doubt arranging to go again, and they and their friends who accompany them will see everything in the way of attractions and amusements entirely new. More horses are entered for the races than before and the splendid purse, aggregating $20,000, will bring out the fastest ones. Free attractions of exceptional merit have been secured. Bands in abundance will enliven the proceedings, and a massed band concert, with the splendid fireworks, will be among the features of the evening entertainment. Of course there will be the midway, which is a never failing source of interest and, everything combined points to one of the most successful exhibitions which Calgary has ever held.

Policy for Technical Education

Since the Hon. J. R. Boyle, Minister of Education, announced his intention to develop a provincial policy for technical education, and appointed Dr. J. C. Miller as director, considerable progress has been made. The organization of this new department has been delayed somewhat owing to the fact that Dr. Miller has had to continue to act as Principal of the Normal School at Camrose until the close of the recent session, and was also assigned the duty of representing the Department of Education at the recent Agricultural Conference held at Ottawa under the chairmanship of Hon. Mr. Bell, Minister of Agriculture.

During the months of March and April the director has conferred with the school boards, board of trade, and trades and labor councils in Medicine Hat and Lethbridge, and given public addresses on technical education in each of these cities. Addresses have also been given and conferences with school authorities held in Cardston, Magrath, Raymond, Stirling, Warner, Claresholm, Vermilion and Red Deer. In each and every centre the authorities and citizens were keenly interested in the new developments involved in the policy of the Minister of Education to have our schools serve a larger number, and give a somewhat modified service to those already able to take advantage of what the schools have to offer. The sympathetic and active co-operation of the local communities with the provincial director in making the industrial and educational surveys necessary to reveal clearly local and provincial conditions and needs, promises most favorably for the successful development of the work represented by this new department.

In Medicine Hat, after a careful consideration of the city's present and future needs by the local educationists, the school board and the provincial director, plans for a new composite high school have been prepared and accepted, and the construction of the building will cost about $300,000. The building provides for the following:

1. Administrative offices for the school board and the superintendent.

2. Offices for specialists.

3. Splendid gymnasium, with lockers, baths and swimming pool in connection therewith.

4. Three rooms for commercial department.

5. Class rooms for academic instruction and library.

6. Laboratories for the various sciences, taught in high school.

7. Full accommodation for courses in domestic science and household arts, kitchen and dining room, sewing, dressmaking and millinery, and laundry.

8. Accommodation for special instruction in music (including instrumental) and art.

9. A splendid assembly hall with stage and dressing rooms.

10. Accommodation for shop work, drafting, bench work in wood, wood turning and wood working machines, pattern work, forge work, machine shop practice, foundry practice and electrical workers' equipment.

The school is designed and located so as to meet as fully as possible the needs of the night-class students, as well as day students and part time students. When completed it will be an institution which will find its contracts with every phase of educational need felt in the community, and will be an institution of which the city may well be proud.

Lethbridge also is facing the problem of additional accommodation for high school purposes. While this fair city of the south has the honor of having been the first in the province to provide advanced manual training, domestic science and preparatory technical courses, the school board, having already located a site, is now planning how best to design their new building so that by utilizing to the full the present technical building and the new high school all the educational needs of the community will be served to the best advantage.

In the academy at Raymond, accommodation and equipment for domestic science and workshop work have been provided. By special arrangement the children of Grades 7 and 8 of the public school are given instruction in these subjects in the academy.

The new consolidated school at Warner, following consultation between the school board, the architect and provincial director of technical education, has been planned to provide shop work for the boys and domestic science for the girls, as well as a good science laboratory for the junior high school work. This building is to be erected this year, and is costing in the neighborhood of $30,000.

At the present time Dr. Miller is conferring with the educational authorities in the cities of the province, and securing from them information needed by the Minister of Education before he can determine the schedule of provincial grants in aid of the various phases of technical education.

Before returning to Edmonton the director will visit the following towns to look into the local conditions and needs—Banff, Bankhead, Macleod, Pincher, Cowley, Lundbreck, Burmis, Hillcrest, Frank, Blairmore, Coleran, Lethbridge, Cardston, Taber, Medicine Hat, Redcliff, Basano, Gleichen, Lacombe and Wetaskiwin. In the mining centres special attention will be given to the needs of the children of the miners who are over fourteen years of age and not in school, and to the educational needs of the miners themselves with a view to providing special classes during next winter.

The summer session for teachers to be held at the University of Alberta in July and August is under the direction of Dr. Miller. Courses are offered in agriculture and school gardening, nature study, elementary manual training, woodwork, domestic science, household arts, physical training and fine arts. It was expected that the total enrolment would be limited to 150, but as this number has been reached already the Minister of Education is considering raising the limit to 175 or 200. Special arrangements have been made whereby the school inspectors will be in attendance and take courses specially organized to enable them to deal more effectively with these special subjects in the schools under their supervision.

TINY WIRELESS RECEIVERS

Apparatus So Small It May be Carried in Pockets But it is Efficient

A wireless receiving apparatus, small enough to be carried in the vest pocket, is a recent French invention. While intended mainly for receiving time signals from the Eiffel tower in Paris, it is suited to a radio receiver of any kind. This apparatus consists of a sensitive telephone receiver, to which is attached a small but delicately made detector, which operates when the antenna is attached with clips to a metal bar, key, chimney, or other metal object, through which the wireless waves are received, while the other wire is "grounded" by attachment to a gas or water pipe or to a metal spike driven into the ground. Small special batteries, of which the wires are wound up compactly,

American Church in London
It is proposed to build for the purpose of holding an American church in London. There are more than 40,000 Americans in London, and at present there is no church which can be used for services. It is intended that the church shall be un-denominational. The church has not yet been chosen, but Kingsway has been mentioned.

Olive Governor Establishes Precedent
A respite for a year and a day was granted by Governor Cox of Ohio on March 27 to a man who had intended to die on March 27. Governor Cox declared that he will urge on his successors to continue this respite from year to year. Governor Hephner makes a good record as a winner in the Ohio legislature. In the meantime, his wages as a prisoner will be turned over to his family.

Exception

"After all these statesmen have gone on the stand and told how they know the ins and outs of politics," said the captain, wrathfully.

"Yes," said the Practical Person, "but in politics you don't get anything by knowing the outs."

Everett West—Yer' I've learned it the hard way, but I ain't had no practice.

Doubtful

William Tell and the Austrian governor were discussing the morrow's target practice.

"I can't shoot that apple off with my eye," said the Swiss hero confidently.

The Austrian smiled grimly.

"You never can, Tell," he answered dryly.

HAND WOULD CRACK WITH SALT RHEUM

Plained and Burned. Hard and Sure Lumps. Couldn't Rest or Sleep. Finger Swollen. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Legere Corner, N. B.—I had salt rheum on my hand for a good many years. Every winter my hand would crack and part of the time I had to wear a glove to do my work, for when I would take it off the salt rheum would irritate so much that I didn't know what to do. I had to take a rough towel and rub it until the blood would come to the surface. Many a time I would lie up in bed and rub my hand and sometimes that didn't satisfy. I had to scratch with my fingers and the next morning I would find a big hole in my hand. That is when I had to wear a glove to do my work. Then I had to wear one of my hands. I thought they were tires. They paled and burned. They started just like a little burn. I had to take a piece of sandpaper that there would be a big bunch of pus and when that would be out it would leave an opening about as big as half a five-cent piece. I would have to soak it in warm water and the burning would stop. The ulcer I had on my finger this winter was still worse. There was more inflammation for my finger was swollen and it was in a bad condition and was just as red as a piece of flannel.

"I took the Cuticura Soap and made a wash with it and washed the hand with a piece of cotton and then I would soak it in a piece of soap and then I would soak it and the burning would stop. The ulcer I had on my finger this winter was still worse. There was more inflammation for my finger was swollen and it was in a bad condition and was just as red as a piece of flannel.

EGS. AT HOME THEIR OWN WIRELESS
The insect world includes thousands of little creatures which are puzzles to naturalists yet have been able to solve. The reason why they have not been solved is that they are hidden in their houses they have various strange appendages for which science can find no use.

One of the queerest of these puzzles is the South African plant fly, which goes through life with strange fan-like expansions on each of its wings. What purpose, if any, these serve is not known, and is as yet unable to find out. The closest observation fails to reveal that they are anything but a serious hindrance to the insect's progress.

Another insect, "Treak," is the prettiest beetle found in South America. It has an extraordinary long and narrow body, which is in fact, that at the rest of its body.

The beautiful neopterous insect from Southern Europe presents a remarkable curiosity in the shape of its wings, which are not quite at right angles for a distance nearly six times as great as the length of the main part of its body.

The most remarkable insect from Central America is equipped with enormous mandibles, which are of absolutely no use, save in feeding.

The blood-sucking sprout, which grows from the head of the insect for three months of the year, has a particularly long "snout."

Science wonders why, for it is no more blood-sucking than any other insect, which are short-snouted.

The "feeler" of the Scottish timber beetle stretches out four times the length of its body, for no purpose whatever, science has been unable to discover.

The most plausible explanation of all these curious and somewhat monstrous insects, however, is that they constitute the apparatus by which insects can communicate with one another in their hidden being, by wireless telegraphy.

The long "feeler" of the timber beetle may well be the wireless machine, which it picks up at wireless vibration and sets in motion by similar "feelers" on other beetles.

Pat Flannigan, who worked in the mines, had never broken the rules of that establishment, even by sneaking off to a retired spot and smoking his pipe after lunch. He knew that if he should be detected in this manner he would be dismissed and would follow automatically, but his love of tobacco got the best of him.

One afternoon, when his pipe was blown out, he called the captain in command of the yard discovered him. Pat knew his job was gone, but he made no attempt to tell the captain, "Well, my man," demanded the captain, "what have you to say?"

Pat said nothing, but the captain, wrathfully, "You are not a fit to be here!"

During the aforesaid conversation between the captain and Pat, a large gathering of Bengal notables, European and Indian, and the troops in the yard, including a large number of Boy Scouts witnessed the unveling of the statue. The governor, Lord Carmichael, praised Lord Kitchener's ability as a soldier and administrator.

They were talking about a recent christening the citizens were holding when Pat, from New York, said he recalled a conversation between Smith and Jones.

WHERE THE LIBERALS STAND

"The first objection we have to this agreement is that although it purports to be a unification of the Canadian Northern System, it is no such unification—the twenty-eight companies are still in existence and will continue as they are today. The next point is that the guarantees that we have are absolutely illusory, that the mortgage we receive is absolutely insufficient.

"I said a moment ago, and I repeat, that this enterprise must go on. It has been conceived for the benefit of the Canadian people. We require this railway. It must not go into liquidation, but we should have the control of it. Since we must go into partnership with the Canadian Northern Railway let us see that we are the master, not the servant. Let the agreement be modified; let the resolutions be modified. But, sir, as they stand at the present time, they are not conceived for the benefit of the Canadian people; they are conceived altogether for the benefit of the firm of Mackenzie & Mann and of the Canadian Northern Railway.

"There is this consideration to be borne in mind by the Prime Minister: There are interests which are transcendent, and the primary one of those transcendent interests is that of the country. I have to repeat that the interest of the country is not served by the present resolutions, and as they stand it will be the duty of the Opposition to oppose them from first to last."—From the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier on the government's proposals to aid Mackenzie & Mann by a bond guarantee of $45,000,000—Unrevised Hansard page 2820.

PHILIPPINE SELF GOVERNMENT

From the day that the United States took the Philippines from Spain, a large proportion of the people of that country, chiefly Democrats, but also many Republicans, has continually insisted that the Islands be given self-government. There have been few advocates in the United States of keeping the Islands as a part of the country permanently. To do this, according to United States ideals, the Islands would have to be made a State of the Union. They would have their two senators, who would have a say in the foreign affairs of the American nation. But far more serious than this, they would have a representative in the House of Representatives proportional to their population, which is very large. This representation would side strongly with the ten millions of negroes in the United States, whenever a racial question, such as the Jim Crow cars, should come up for debate. With this objection to them on the part of the Southern States, and with their many barbarous and semi-barbarous peoples, the Philippines will not be wanted as a State of the American Union. The only other future that can be contemplated, unless the United States accepts its present imperial relation to dependencies, is that they shall be made a free, self-governing power, whose independence is guaranteed at least for a time by the United States.

It was feared by some that President Wilson, who is the first Democrat to become President since the Spanish-American war, would, by a sudden legislative stroke, cut off the Philippines from all connection with the United States. Such a proposal was talked of as the extreme folly. Mr. Wilson has made one big blunder in his foreign work, but in his treatment of the Philippines, as well as in his home policy, he has acted with the greatest wisdom. Instead of immediately abandoning the Islands, he has, in practice, given them self-government, while leaving them a number of American counsellors, and maintaining a nominal sovereignty. The government of the Philippines is like that of some half-emancipated British colonies. It consists of a lower house, elected by a popular vote, consisting of eighty members, and an upper house of a legislative council, consisting of eight commissioners and a governor-general, making nine in all, appointed by the President. This commission had heretofore consisted of three Filipinos, five Americans and an American governor-general, making the Filipino representation in it one-third of the whole. President Wilson has changed this. The new commission consists of five Filipinos, three citizens of the United States and an American governor, so that the Filipinos on the commission can outvote the Americans. As practically the whole of the lower house is Filipino, this gives to them control of their own government, except for the power of the United States congress to veto any legislation of which it does not approve.

"It has been considered a little light-headed of anybody to suggest that the Filipinos were able to govern themselves and that the power of the United States might be withdrawn, but here we find them doing it without any commotion being raised over the change. It is in this manner that Britain is proceeding by much slower steps to give self-government to the Hindus. It is worthy of mention that the man who holds the position of minister of finance and minister of justice in the commission is a Filipino, as these officers are usually reserved for people of the Anglo-Saxon race. If this commission with its Filipino majority proves successful, there is little doubt that Mr. Wilson will, if he succeeds himself in the presidency, further reduce the American representation on the commission, if, indeed, he does not appoint a Filipino governor-general if the Islands.

PULP AND PAPER: WESTERN MARKET

Opportunities For Developing This Industry to Meet Requirements of Western Papers

The Western Prairies and the interior and eastern parts of British Columbia are yet without a paper pulp mill although approximately 1,600 carloads of paper of all kinds passed into and through the city of Winnipeg during the year 1912 for use in Western Canada.

For the fiscal year ending the 31st of March, 1912, Canada imported paper and manufactures of paper, valued at $5,547,851, of which 1,756,185 came from the United Kingdom, and $5,745,103 from the United States. The 48 active mills in 1912 consumed a total of 364,642 cords of raw material valued at $6,215,852. The total cut of Canada being 1,867,910 cords valued at $5,511,215, so that 399,655 or more than half the total was exported in manufactures to the United States. In other words Canada exported enough pulpwood to supply 44 mills of the average capacity now operating, and for the quantity of cordwood exported the owners received $6,095,225, whereas had the 360,865 cords of paper manufactured in the Dominion it would have produced approximately 773,140 tons of pulp, which at the average price per ton of cutwood, wood pulp in 1912 was $21.10, the total would have received $16,230,000. The actual price received was $6,095,225, showing a loss to the Dominion which would be made good to the manufacturer and the cost of converting the material into pulp of $6,215,852, and undoubtedly this cost of manufacture, in the form of wages, material, etc., would be a source of wealth to the country in general.

Available Timber

In the interior and eastern parts of British Columbia, and more especially along the lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway through the Crows Nest Pass, as well as in the central parts of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, there are large areas of suitable timber available. In addition to this there are nearby water powers and railway transport to make easily obtainable suitable locations for mills and economic methods of handling both the raw material and the finished products.

Market for Paper

In Western Canada there are over 500 daily and weekly newspapers and magazines published with a daily, weekly and monthly circulation of over 1,000,000 copies. The construction of new railroad lines continues at the rate of 1,900 miles or more annually (branch and main lines), and new towns are opened up at the rate of 150 to 200 each year. The larger proportion of these new growths in the newspaper stage at a very early date. The demand for paper of all kinds within the next ten years will be enormous, and should be the means of supporting a large number of paper mills, as well as building up thriving communities.

Western Canada has the wood and the water powers. It also has the rivers and streams for driving the logs, and means of transportation by rail is getting more efficient and easy of access year by year. Pulp and paper can be produced as economically in the West as in any other part of the Dominion. It is an industry which will stand the fullest investigation. The market's demand is incessant and growing yearly by leaps.

CHINA BOY GUILTY OF MAN-SLAUGHTER

Vancouver, May 21.—Jack Kong was found guilty tonight of manslaughter of Mrs. Clark Millard on April 1 last, after a trial lasting four days. The jury was out over seven hours, and on the announcement of the verdict there were visible manifestations of disappointment, it being generally believed that it would be one of murder.

The defence put forward was that Kong had acted in self-defence, and his counsel made a strong effort to impress on the jury the fact that it was Mrs. Millard who first acted as the aggressor. Dr. Curtis, who was recalled today, stated that the blow on the head with a chair would not cause death, while A. B. Taylor, K.C., counsel for the Crown, said that their theory was that the prisoner did not hit her with the chair, but that he used the carving knife on her, the knife that he alleged she had threatened to cut off his ear with.

QUESTION FOR CATTLE MEN

Everywhere in America where good beef forms a staple portion of the daily diet and where beef production is possible, or has been in the past successfully carried on, the cry goes forth: "There is an alarming scarcity of beef." A shortage of a commodity has the one redeeming feature of high prices to those who are fortunate enough to have that commodity to market, but high prices are only a detriment to the man who has nothing to sell.

The question has been discussed all over Canada and the United States, and the agitation reached such a pitch that, as recently announced through these columns, the National Live Stock Exchange, of Kansas City, sought to have legislation enacted in the States of the Union prohibiting the slaughter of female calves regardless of breed, quality or conformation, and giving them a minimum lease of three years. A draft of the bill was submitted to the various local live stock exchanges throughout the United States, and the Chicago exchange promptly placed their mark of disapproval on the proposed scheme, which consigned it to oblivion.

Oblivion seems to be the only safe place for such an act. From the viewpoint of a theorist, the proposal seemed to be ideal, but the producers of beef rose up in arms against it and the proposed care for all the ills, in place of being a soothing narcotic proved to be an exciting stimulant, not to beef production, but to producers' unrest.

To get a larger supply of beef cattle more females are necessary so it would seem that the object of the scheme is to be commendable. But compulsory legislation to force farmers to keep all sorts of female calves to an age of three years could never be countenanced by thinking producers.

The loss to the breeders by having to develop a large number of inferior cattle would be enormous. Thousands of female cattle are born every year that could not be economically raised to three years of age because of their inferior breeding or conformation. Such a measure would warrant the keeping of calves until matured to be sold for feed, and of the country's cattle more so soon will calf slaughter diminish than could be regained in several decades of scientific and practical breeding management of the highest order.

Practical feeders have during the past few years been encouraging the marketing of baby beef, not veal, but young beef. It is a good rule to follow in beef production to mature the animal for the market at as early an age as possible. Thousands of two-year-olds are sold annually at greater profit than could possibly have been made had they been kept until three years of age. This act would have compelled the feeder to keep his feeding heifers until three years of age and often at a loss to himself.

There is still another angle from which such a measure does not appear as a bright light to guide the beef cattle industry to unqualified success. Would it increase production? If it did, to the extent which its sponsors hoped, it would inevitably lower prices, but this is not the point. What would be the result? Simplicity this. Cattle breeders are for the most part thinking men. Crops even in a country so favored as Canada or the United States are not always bumper, nor even average yields, therefore the hard-headed breeder, always careful in his movements, would not go into cattle breeding extensively. He would curtail production. He would sell off a number of his females now over the three-year age limit because being compelled to face a three-year uncertainty with every calf he dare not take the risk of extensive breeding.

Beef breeders are not the only cattlemen to be effected by such legislation. Dairymen would also have a grievance. The man is producing milk for city or town use, or for cheesemaking, but practically the former, would be compelled to feed a large number of calves, and thus city milk supplies would be curtailed. Labor is scarce and the dairymen would also require more hired help to care for his increase of stock. Calves, yearlings and two-year-olds would soon form a large portion of the herd, even where the original number of cows were kept, even where the young stock would be unproductive expenses would likely outweigh income and the result would mean disaster to the business. Cattle feeders would not care to feed calves from the dairy breeds and the owner would not be able to dispose of his overplus stock. The only good the act might do would be to turn more men following mixed farming towards the dual-purpose cow.

While this or other legislation has not been proposed in Canada, it is well to have it discussed. What is good or bad for cattle feeders in the United States is more or less good or bad for Canadian feeders. Calf slaughter has increased at a very rapid rate in both countries during recent years, but compelling breeders to keep all females to a certain age is not the best remedy. Take the profit out of the business and the business will soon succumb. The cure is simple and yet it is difficult. Feeders are wide awake men, and just as soon as prices warrant the keeping of calves until matured to be sold for feed, the market will be saturated.

Practical feeders have during the past few years been encouraging the marketing of baby beef, and pork in preference to matured beef, so long will beef be scarce. Beef prices are now higher than a few years ago.

TERRIBLE CRIME ON ONTARIO FARMER

Gravenhurst, Ont., May 20.—William Ruttan, a farmer living in the bush country in the township of Hyde, near here, this morning shot and killed his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Countermande, her brother-in-law, and severely wounded the wife of the latter. He fired four shots at his son-in-law, Alfred Countermande, but all went wide of the mark. After the shooting Ruttan fled to the bush, taking his weapon with him, and is still at large.

George Countermande was shot through the heart in the rear of the house which he occupied with his brother Alfred, Ruttan firing from ambush. The victim fell at the feet of his wife, whom he was helping to clean fish. The woman, pursued by Ruttan, ran into the house and attempted to hold the door against the murderer. When the door was broken down, she dashed into the bedroom, where the other members of the Countermande family had taken refuge.

Unable to force the door, Ruttan fired a shot through the panels, wounding his daughter, Mrs. Alfred Countermande in the finger. Immediately, he fired again, and the bullet struck the young woman on the neck, causing almost instant death. Mrs. George Countermande crawled out through the window into the yard. Ruttan saw her and fired at her, one bullet striking her on the knee. The murderer then returned to the house, fired another shot through the bedroom door, but Alfred, who was still in the room, had lain down on the floor and escaped. The latter then dashed out of the window and ran into a neighboring ravine, Ruttan firing three shots after him, but without effect.

Ruttan did not pursue his son-in-law, but going to the stable, he set it on fire, and seated on a stump, coolly watched it being destroyed. Then he disappeared into the bush.

In the meantime Alfred Countermande had aroused the neighbors, and a large crowd gathered, but Ruttan had fled, taking his weapon, a combination rifle and shotgun with him. The double murder discloses a terrible condition of affairs. Alfred Countermande, who married Ruttan's daughter a month ago, had laid a charge of incest against his father-in-law. This action, it is supposed, led to Ruttan's attempt to wipe out the entire family.

SPRING IMPURITIES

IN THE BLOOD

A Tonic Medicine is a Necessity at

This Season

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the only real tonic, blood-builder and nerve-restorer that the medical world has to offer. In the spring when the system is loaded with impurities as a result of the indoor life of the winter months, there is no other medicine that can be used in most of purifying and cleansing, and every dose of these pills helps to make new, rich, red blood. In the spring one finds, with the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a new strength. In the spring the appetite is often poor—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills develop the appetite, tone the body and break down the system. It is in the spring the poisons in the blood find an outlet in disfiguring pimples, eruptions and boils—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills remove the skin because they go to the root of the trouble in the blood. In the spring anæmia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia, eruptions and many other diseases are manifested as a cause of poor weak blood, and it is at this time when all nature takes on new life that the blood most seriously needs attention. Some people do not feel well in the spring, but this is not the case, but these only further weaken themselves. A purgative merely gallops through the system, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do not cure anything. On the other hand Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood which reaches every artery and nerve in the body, bringing new strength, new health and new life to the system of all women and children. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring—they will not disappoint you.

A Dire Calamity

Holding a glass of clear honey in his right hand, father observed his preservatively.

"It cost the little bees many a weary trip to my this with sweetness."

Little Laura, who had been listening closely, exclaimed with great earnestness, "I have been too bad if one had dropped the glass!"

Barbarous

"A really acceptable present for a lady is a nice, well-arranged, trifid handbag, when not absolutely necessary, it is always useful and ornamental."—Adv't. in Aberdeen Free Press.

Still it might be misunderstood. The population of Ireland has been almost halved in seventy-five years.

Smiles

Usually show up with Post Toasties.

And why not, when the famous "toasties" flavor begins operations!

There's a deal of skill required in cooking and toasting these thin bits of corn so that every one of the millions of crinkly flakes has the delicious "toasties" taste that invites one to call for more.

Post Toasties come in sealed packages—fresh, crisp and appetizing—

Ready to eat with cream or good milk, and a sprinkling of sugar if you like Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff.

Theatrical Note
Bebbie Wings—Hitch you wagon to a star!

Totie Footfites—I'd sooner hitch it to an angel, and be a star myself.

Oil for Toothache—There is no pain so acute and distressing as toothache. When you have an aching tooth, apply Dr. Thomas E. Grafton's Oil of Cloves. It is a powerful analgesic and you will find immediate relief. It touches the nerve with soothing effect and the pain departs at once. That will ease toothache in another fine quality of this Oil, showing the many uses to it.

Crabshaw—I thought they were violently opposed to the motor car. Mrs. Crabshaw—Oh, no, they would be for they could afford to buy one.

No Time For Riddles
Excuse part at telephone—Hello, Who is this? Who is this, I say?

Man at Other End—Haven't got time to guess riddles. Tell yourself who you are.

Employees—I don't like your methods of doing business, Mr. Grafton, I resign.

"Political" Business Man (sneeringly)—I'm taller-than-thou guy, eh?

Emp—No; merely a square peg in a crooked hole.

Seaplane Lifepats

The British admiralty has decided that all seaplanes will be built after the fashion of a miniature lifeboat suspended underneath the body of the machine. The boats are to be built of cedar, equipped with two oars, a mast and sail, and weigh only 20 pounds.

"I am sorry to learn your mother is ill," said the sympathizing teacher to the girl who had come in late. "Is she sick bed?"

"Not quite," replied the truthful child. "She's just sick a-softa."—Chicago Tribune.

Moderate Incomes the Best
One more lesson may be noted from the experience of the family. It is that a group which commands moderate resources yields the best results in character and conduct. It is noted that in an income of $1,500 a year or less the woman becomes too often a weary drudge, and the children dragging at her skirts. But the other woman who commands retinues of servants, summer and winter residences and an income of say, over $5,000 a year, is a queen in her small kingdom. If she is conscientious she knows no leisure; yet that kingdom exists for no end outside itself, and the social utility of the wife is nil. But, according to my actual observation it is from the home of moderate means, where the mistress if competent can command some independence, that the best example of the social welfare of the nation are gathered. Any close student of American life agrees with Matthew Arnold that "most degeneracy is to be found in the middle class." The point is worth noting; for it strengthens the socialist endeavor to make moderate conditions, of course, to reasonable variations in the general if not universal—Yale Review.

The "Movie" Making for Temperance

These who have hitherto assumed the increasing and multiplying moving picture theaters to be dens of poison and need inquiry will do well to remember that in some instances these establishments are associated active and efficient agencies for righteousness, and it is authoritatively declared that their influence is good on public morale and perspective.

In Manchester, England, for example, a city magistrate is reported as saying that the moving picture theaters do well to remove the public from the saloons and the like.

In some places these establishments are associated active and efficient agencies for righteousness, and it is authoritatively declared that their influence is good on public morale and perspective.

The results are not at all surprising, and it is gratifying to observe, too, it may convey a profitable suggestion to those who are working to abate the tides of temperance. It is a truth that the best way to move them is to restore the stomach to proper action.

Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do this. Simple directions with each box tell the user to take a spoonful about the time set for the closing of bars, so that there is little if any opportunity for men to get drunk after leaving the theater. The result of this is that the man who is first seen willing to forfeit even a fraction of it by leaving before the last film is reeled in.

Local Jottings

The Editor has been absent for several days this week, looking after business matters at Acme.

Paul Hotson, formerly of this place but for several years past located at Acme, Alberta, is arranging to open a jewelry store in the new Royal Bank Block about June 1st.

The prize list for the Lacombe Exhibition will be ready for distribution in about three weeks. In addition to an enlarged list of prizes offered by the Association, there will be a large number of special prizes offered by citizens.

A well attended meeting of citizens was held in the town hall on Tuesday afternoon, and a resolution passed strongly protesting against the proposed change of time table on the east line and has been forwarded to the proper officials. It was the general opinion that the proposed change would be detrimental to Lacombe as well as occasioning much inconvenience to the residents along the line.

PORSS GETS FIFTEEN YEARS

Calgary, May 23.—Fifteen years for forgery and seven years for bigamy were the sentences imposed on Abram Porss, alias Parness, in the criminal assizes court here yesterday by Chief Justice

Harvey. The sentences will run concurrently, which means that Porss will have to serve fifteen years behind the bars.

Porss is well known in this district, having victimized many businessmen and farmers, both here and at Clive and other points.
